Mixed works

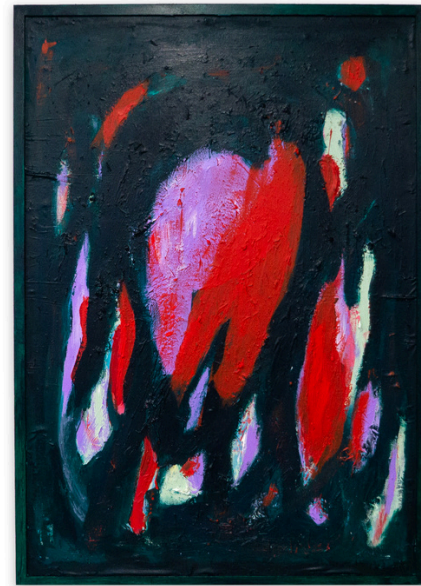

An abstract painting featuring a prominent, dark green, textured vertical stroke running down the center. The background is composed of various colors including light blue, purple, pink, and white, with a rough, pebbled texture. The colors are layered and mixed, creating a sense of depth and tactile quality.

The image shows several rectangular tiles with a glossy pink glaze, which are broken and scattered on a dark, heavily scratched wooden surface. The tiles are arranged in a way that suggests they have been shattered or broken apart. The wooden surface is dark brown with prominent vertical grain and numerous fine scratches and marks. The pink tiles have a smooth, reflective surface, and the broken edges reveal a light-colored, porous material underneath. The text "Shattered series" is centered over the image in a white, serif font.

The image is a vertical composition featuring a dark, textured background. Overlaid on this are several layers of torn, aged paper and fabric. On the left, a piece of light-colored, fibrous material, possibly paper or fabric, is layered over a darker, more textured strip. In the center, a large, irregularly shaped piece of light-colored, translucent material, possibly paper or fabric, is layered over a dark, textured strip. This central piece has some reddish-brown stains or discoloration, particularly along its top edge. To the right of this central piece, there is another layer of light-colored material, followed by a dark, textured strip. The overall effect is one of depth and texture, suggesting a long history or a journey through time. The text "Impression of time" is centered in the middle of the image, written in a white, serif font.

An abstract mixed media artwork featuring a complex interplay of colors and textures. The composition is dominated by vibrant blue and green hues, with a prominent yellow-green area on the right side. A large, textured, reddish-pink shape is visible in the lower-left quadrant. The surface is highly textured, with visible brushstrokes, splatters, and areas of what appears to be dried paint or resin. The overall effect is one of dynamic energy and layered complexity.
